Subject: Gift card reform feedback

Thank you for the opportunity to input into gift card reform - particularly the topic of expiry dates and unused gift cards.

I support the Government's initiative on this and would suggest that the scope of the reform be extended to include online "daily" deals which also impose expiry periods. Proprietors of online deals are already protected by limiting the number of offers that are taken up. It seems to me unfair to accept people's money for a limited offer and then impose an expiry date as well.

Kind regards,
