Subject: Environmental Groups Restrictions
Date: Thursday, 3 August 2017 2:10:42 PM

Dear Friends, In response to the Discussion Paper about the ability of groups to advocate about environmental Policy I wish to say that in my long experience of observing such activities it have found that,with few exceptions, these people are invariably right. Their warnings of Environmental negatives usually come to pass and to place restrictions on their ability to clearly articulate these issues would be a very un democratic action. Please consider that they are not doing their stuff from a selfish or financial outlook,they are just trying to make Australia a better place.
