

Dear Team,

Whilst I agree double dipping on P&E deduction shouldn't be allowed but there should be a way to organise them via authorised depreciation scheduler so that these can be claimed correctly.

I am voting against complete ban for P&E depreciation schedule rule. My concern is this will give Spruikers more chance to make new property more unaffordable and it will take first home buyer further out of the market, thus having inverse effect.

Thanks,
Dhruvesh Shah