

To Whom it May Concern

Mr David Murray,

As an Australian citizen I demand that there be no “bail in” of depositor’s accounts in order to “save the banks & that I am utterly opposed to this “bail in “ legislation becoming law.

I strongly support Glass-Steagal where we must separate legitimate commercial banking functions from speculative activities of “investment banks”,as did the Glass-Steagall law in the US so successfully from 1933 until it’s repeal in 1999.

Yours Sincerely

Geraldine Kaye Jones
