

Too big to Fail

It is nothing short of a national disgrace that our politicians are even considering Bail In as a possible solution for the “Too Big To Fail” banking debacle.

This solution is just another band aid of which has increasingly become a trademark of our modern day governments who all too readily cover up the real issues and foist the financial responsibility onto a largely unsuspecting public.

As with any other business failure, let the responsibility rest where it belongs, with the banks themselves, If that in turn results in those institutions going bankrupt, just like any other identity would cease to exist leaving an opportunity for others who can responsibly provide this service.

We the people of Australia have invested in and voted into power our present government to make decisions that are in the best interests of “US” the people, not the banks or any other business and thus the government has NO business supporting the banks in any monetary way in this matter.

Bail in did not improve the people’s lives in Cypress but rather impoverished them.

To all politicians, You have a moral obligation to do the job you were voted in to do, stop wasting our money on under the table deals that just help a few, respect and support the public who are the back bone of this great country of ours
