Dear Sirs / Mesdames,

The current tax system discriminates against single income families. We are such a family, and while we do our best to live on one income (which allows my wife to spend countless voluntary hours at our local government primary school), under the current income tax rules, this is quite difficult.

Please introduce income splitting for taxation purposes, so that people who want to raise their own children are able to afford to do so, rather than having to shunt them off to childcare (which is btw child 'care', not child 'love'!)

Kind regards.

Rosemary and Malcolm Pryor.
