Dear Manager

Design and distribution obligations and product intervention power – draft legislation

The Financial Ombudsman Service (FOS) Australia<sup>1</sup> is an ASIC-approved independent external dispute resolution scheme that covers disputes across the financial sector.<sup>2</sup>

We welcome the opportunity to provide feedback on the exposure draft of the Treasury Laws Amendment (Design and Distribution Obligations and Product Intervention Powers) Bill 2017.

Schedule 2 of the Bill includes a proposed provision that is to become section 301C(5)(b) of the National Consumer Credit Protection Act 2009. This provision, as drafted, refers to an Australian financial services licence but may instead need to refer to an Australian credit licence. We suggest this is reviewed.

If FOS can provide further input or assistance at this stage, please contact our Policy & Liaison Adviser, Carolyn Bruns at

Yours faithfully

Shane Tregillis Chief Ombudsman

Financial Ombudsman Service Australia
