Staffing

The department is strongly committed to protecting the privacy of all employees. The department has HR policies to address staffing matters as they arise. We are committed to ensuring all issues are investigated. The department does not discuss individual staffing matters.

Treasury is aware of the comment. The matter does not relate to the Treasury Secretary, Dr Steven Kennedy. Treasury takes seriously all comments made in relation to staff and has rigorous processes to address staffing matters as they arise. We also have support available for staff who may be impacted. Treasury does not comment on individual staffing matters.

What I can say is that we have HR policies in place to support staff:

Procedures for determining suspected breaches of the APS Code of Conduct

Procedures for Public Interest Disclosure

Preventing and managing bullying, harassment and discrimination in the workplace
