

Tickets should not be able to be resold by a 'second'party for more than the original ticket face value.

Also requiring photo id to match ticket names should be mandatory practice. Official ticket sellers often only allow a change of name once or twice which stops ticket scalpers to bulk buy and resell at extortionate prices.

Misleading and fraudulent claims re availability of tickets etc should be illegal and these companies should not be given advertising space on platforms such as Google etc.

Regards

Cathy Pye